

Zeitschrift der Deutschen Gesellschaft für Geowissenschaften (ZDGG)

Instruction to Authors

(last version: 01. November 2010)

1. General

The “Zeitschrift der Deutschen Gesellschaft für Geowissenschaften” preferably publishes original papers in English and German language covering the entire field of geoscience (solid earth).

Articles must include title, abstract, figure-, table- and plate legends as well as keywords according to GeoRef Thesaurus. In addition and if the manuscript is not in English, an abstract written in the mother tongue of the study area is welcome. The manuscript has to comply with the rules of Good Scientific Practice; see: http://www.dfg.de/en/research_funding/legal_conditions/good_scientific_practice/index.html.

All manuscripts are peer reviewed. Authors should recommend two reviewers. However, reviewers will be asked by the editor-in-chief.

All manuscripts must be final and typesetted preferably in MS Word. Electronic data and three printouts of text and figures must be submitted.

2. Copyright

Submission of a manuscript for publication in the “Zeitschrift der Deutschen Gesellschaft für Geowissenschaften” is considered binding assurance that this work has not been and will not be published elsewhere in this form and length. With acceptance and publication of a manuscript the exclusive copyright for every language and country is transferred to the publishers. The copyright covers the exclusive rights to reproduce and distribute the article including reprints, microfilm electronic or any other reproduction and translations. Authors are allowed to distribute the last version before being printed via the internet according to the rules of “fair use” for scientific and non-commercial purposes.

3. Manuscript structure and layout

Manuscripts should be organized as follows:

1. Title – Author’s name – Author’s address – E-mail of author
2. Abstract
3. Keywords according to GeoRef Thesaurus
4. Text (subdivided into Introduction – Material and methods – Results – Discussion – Conclusions – Summary; 200 words maximum)
5. Acknowledgements

6. References

7. Figures, Tables, Plates

Please, submit figures, tables and plates on extra pages.

Title: short but precise; in English and German language.

Name: Please, mention all academic titles and first and last name, first names may be abbreviated (e.g. Francis M. Gentleman).

Address: Supply complete address (institution, street, ZIP-code, city, country) and e-mail.

Abstract: Short and precise summary of problems, methods, results and conclusion of the article. It should not have more than 200 words and provided in English and German language (“Kurzfassung”). An additional abstract in the language of the author(s) or the language of the country investigated is possible.

Keywords: Have to be supplied in English and German (“Schlüsselwörter”) language.

The text should be submitted left-aligned, without hyphenation and without top lines or footnotes; line spacing is 1.5. Please, write palaeontological names in italics, and terms to be emphasised in bold. Headlines should be written in normal letters, not in capitals.

4. Figures, plates and tables

All figures, plates and tables may be in colour or in black and white and have to be consecutively numbered in the text. They must be submitted on separate pages with only one item per page and as electronic files. The name of the author together with the illustration number must be written on the reverse side of each illustration page. For every illustration short and precise legends (headline/footnote) have to be included. The top of an illustration must be indicated.

Figures, plates and tables should have a line width and lettering suitable for reduction to the type area of 17.5 x 23.5 cm or less. Figures and tables can also be scaled to fit one column (8.5 cm). The position of illustrations in the text should be indicated.

Pixel-based line art figures must be supplied in tif, eps or jpg format at a resolution not less than 600 dpi.

Photographs should be sharp and of high contrast. Electronically submitted halftones and photographs must be provided at a minimum resolution of 300 dpi. Please be sure that in eps files all fonts are embedded.

5. References in the text

References within the text must be by name of author/s (in capitals and small capitals, do not use full capitals), year and, if necessary, place (page or figure number) in the cited reference. For two authors use the “&” notation; for more than two authors quote the first author followed by the “et al.” notation. Examples:

“It is well known (Miall 1996) that ...”

“A revision (Kunert & Wansa 1997: 24) shows ...”

“According to Eissmann et al. (1995: Abb. 3) the ...”

Multiple citations are separated by comma (Müller 2000, Meier 2001).

6. Citations in the reference list

List only and all cited references. References must be listed in alphabetical-chronological order. The recommendations made by HORATSCHEK & SCHUBERT (1998) shall be used for citations; yet some citations vary from these rules; e.g.:

a) Monographs

Miall, A.D. (1996): The geology of fluvial deposits: sedimentary facies, basin analysis, and petroleum geology: 582 p., Berlin (Springer).

b) Chapters in a monograph

Eissmann, L., Litt, T. & Wansa, S. (1995): Elsterian and Saalian deposits in their type area in central Germany. – In: Ehlers, J., Kozarski, S. & Gibbard, P.L. (eds.): Glacial deposits in North-East Europe: 439–464, Rotterdam (Balkema).

c) Journals

Hoth, K. (1999): Geschichte und Zukunftsansätze der geowissenschaftlichen Gesellschaften der Festen Erde in Deutschland. – Z. geol. Wiss., 27: 91–104, Berlin.

d) Maps

Kunert, R. & Wansa, S. (1997): Geologische Karte von Sachsen-Anhalt 1 : 25 000, Blatt 4436 Wettin, mit Erläuterungen. – 2. Aufl., Geol. Landesamt Sachsen-Anhalt, Halle.

Topografische Karte 1 : 25 000, Blatt 4640 Leipzig (1997). – 2. Aufl., Landesvermessungsamt Sachsen, Dresden.

7. Proofs

The first or corresponding author will receive proofs of the article. Corrections should not cause more than 1 % of cost of composition.

8. Reprints

Authors will receive a pdf-file of their article. Reprints may be ordered from the publishers against costs.
